Jealousy Theory In Dual Murder

More Killed by Shotgun Discharged Into His Face, Mrs. Thornton Wounded in Back—Prints of a Man's Shoes at Scene.

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 21 (AP).—The theory that a jealous lover shot A. B. Moore, Southern Railway official, and then fatally wounded Mrs. Thornton as she fled from the scene of her companion's death, on a lonely road near Birmingham, was advanced by detectives today.

The bodies of the man and woman were found Wednesday night where Moore had parked his automobile in a place thick with the road.

Moore had been killed by a shotgun discharged directly into his face. Mrs. Thornton's body was 75 feet away with a wound in the back of the head.

A discarded shotgun and several empty shells were found near her body and a number of prints of a man's shoes were discovered in the ground around her.

Mrs. Thornton, who was married and the mother of a nine year old daughter, had been living with her parents here during the absence of her husband.

Moore is survived by a widow and three children. Although Mrs. Moore and the children have been residing in Chattanooga, Tenn., for several months, Moore's parents denied the couple were separated.

Mrs. Chaplin Is Unable to Collect

When Government Files Income Tax Liens Against Comedian—Appeals to Commissioner to Lift the Liens.

Los Angeles, Jan. 21 (AP).—Lita Grey Chaplin tugged in vain at the purse strings of her screen star husband today in an effort to collect $16,000 temporary alimony and attorneys' fees while the greater part of the Chaplin fortune to be uncovered since her divorce petition was filed turned up on the other side of the coin.

The scene of activity shifted to New York last night when it became known that the government had filed income tax liens against Chaplin for more than $1,550,000 and when it was reported that Chaplin had succeeded in withdrawing half a million dollars from a New York bank a few minutes before federal authorities tied up his accounts.

So far Mrs. Chaplin, who alleged her husband had a fortune of $16,000,000, has been balked at every turn to collect alimony. Her attorneys appealed to the commissioner of internal revenue at Washington to lift the lien here so the alimony might be paid.

Informing that Chaplin had allegedly withdrawn $500,000 from the Bowery and East River National Bank in New York, the receivers here pointed out that their information showed he had only a little more than $10,000 in his credit there—$3,012.99 in his own name and $7,425.97 to the credit of the Charles Chaplin Film Corporation.

Mysterious Gas Leak Is Located

Break Found in Gas Main Several Hundred Feet Away From House Whose Occupants Narrowly Escaped Asphyxiation.

The mysterious leak in the gas main that caused the two family house at No. 22 West Union street to be come flooded with gas fumes from which the families narrowly escaped asphyxiation, was discovered Wednesday in the gas main between Post street and Broadway on Union street, and several hundred feet away from the house. The gas main in West Union street is a six inch main and was found cracked about one-eighth of an inch. The crack was caused by settling, resulting from the opening of a sewer trench early in the fall. Aside from the crack in the main at the point mentioned, the main was in excellent condition.

It is thought that the gas escaped from the crack and followed the water pipes up the street and into the house at No. 22 Post street, filling the house with gas fumes which nearly overcame the families of Frank Gill on the first floor and Thomas Madden on the second floor. There are no gas pipes and no gas used in the house.

New Moves in Hudson Pool Case

Judge Hasbrouck Reserves Decision on Motion Involving Linotype Machines—Judge Staley Decides Four Defendants Must Stand Trial.

Decision has been reserved by Supreme Court Justice Gilbert D. B. Hasbrouck in the legal steps taken Thursday in Albany county for the return of sixteen linotype machines held as evidence in the so-called Hudson baseball pool investigation. The return of the machines is asked by Judge John Tracey of Columbia county from Frank Meegan of Albany. The machines were seized by the sheriff of Columbia county during the investigation last September, and were returned to Meegan by an order of replevin. The hearing Thursday was by the order of Justice Hasbrouck on the submission of additional evidence to show cause why the machines should not be returned.

Judge Tracey was represented in court by Monell Hersberg and Mr. Meegan by Daniel V. McNamee, former county judge of Columbia county.

Four Must Stand Trial

Thursday in Hudson, Justice Staley ruled that four men indicted in October for operating the pool must stand trial. His decision was made on the application of the defense attorney's plea for dismissal of charges or permission to inspect the minutes of the grand jury that returned the indictment.

This was refused because Justice Staley declared that much of the evidence given was by John Doe depositions and the witnesses were reluctant to make their identification known. The court decision inferred that opening the minutes to inspection might result in intimidation and the case fall through for lack of witnesses.

Ellenville Bus Driver Beaten By Masked Men

Belated Investigation of Brutal Assault Following Demand Not to Carry an Unnamed Woman Passenger—Assaults Were White Outcomes—Driver in Hospital a Week.

State Troopers are conducting an investigation at Ellenville to determine whether Ariand J. Sanderson, former Grahamsville merchant and proprietor of the Ellenville-Napanoch bus line, was assaulted and beaten up by four members of the Ku Klux Klan on the evening of December 22 or whether he was attacked by two men masquerading in the Klan costume. They are also trying to learn the identity of the men who brutally assaulted Sanderson after waylaying him near his home at Fantinekill Park in Ellenville.

Before assaulting Sanderson the masked men questioned him in regard to his relations with a woman who had been a passenger on his bus and demanded to know if he was going to permit her to ride on his bus again. When he replied he did not think that was any of the public's business, the attack followed.

After beating Sanderson almost into insensibility, the four men lighted a cross that had been prepared in the meadow opposite Sanderson's home and then disappeared before he could be summoned.

Sanderson on the evening in question had returned from the last Napanoch trip at 10:15 o'clock and went to the Wayside Garage where he worked for about half an hour on his bus. He left the garage about 11 o'clock for the garage of Augustus Kless on North Main street, which is but a short distance from his home and where he stored his bus as usual, and then started for home.

Masked Men Make Demand

In his story of the affair to the State Troopers, Sanderson said he had gone but a short distance from the Kless garage when he became aware that someone was following him. Turning to look he saw two figures attired in the costume of the K. K. K. He thought at first that some of the boys of the Wayside Garage were celebrating a belated Halloween and continued his way homeward when he was commanded to stop by one of the two masked figures. He did so and the shorter member of the pair questioned him in regard to a woman passenger on his bus who had made the trip to the next village with him that night. He was warned to forbid the privilege of riding on the bus to the woman from that night on, and asked what his feelings toward her were, which was followed by the question: "Yes or no, is she to continue riding on your bus, quick?"

None of Public's Business

Sanderson said that he did not think it was any of the public's business, and the shorter of the pair struck him a blow between the eyes, blinding him momentarily and starting a stream of blood from his nose. Sanderson, who is a slightly built man, threw up his arms to defend himself from the attack. As he did so the taller of the pair seized him and bending Sanderson's head back nodded to the shorter man who rained a shower of blows in Sanderson's face and head.

After Sanderson had been thoroughly beaten he was again questioned as to the woman's continued passage on the bus, and again he refused to answer, and a shower of blows again rained on him until he was beaten practically into insensibility when the two other masked figures appeared from the fields to the right of his home and joined the two who had attacked him.

Talk of Tar and Feathers

The four talked over the question of administering a further beating to their victim, but finally decided to let him go, warning Sanderson to "watch his step" or be in readiness for a regular diet of tar and feathers. The four masked men then disappeared after lighting the cross.

Sanderson staggered into his house and told his wife of the attack and she put in a telephone call to Chief of Police Curry, but was unable to reach him as the call had been made over his private wire and Curry's household had orders not to respond to official calls over the private line. State Trooper Ross was ill at the time and the best that could be done was to make arrangements for an investigation the following morning.

Spent Week in Hospital

Dr. J. C. Cole was called and treated Sanderson's wounds and he was put to bed. The rest of the week Sanderson spent at the Ellenville Hospital where medical examination revealed that his eyes had been severely injured and his nose was slightly awry with painful welts spread over his entire face and head.

Sanderson has placed his case in the hands of Attorney Leroy Lowmery, who has been conducting a private investigation of the affair. The State Troopers have also been busy.

According to the Ellenville papers a concerted attempt to solve the mystery of the attack is now under way and twenty-five man warrants have been drawn by Judge Mearns Moore to expedite the investigation.

Neighbors Not Told

Neighbors when questioned regarding the affair have been unable to shed much light on it. One neighbor remembers seeing an auto resembling

Mexico in Favor Of Arbitration

In Attempt to Settle American-Mexican Oil and Land Law—Kellogg Withholds Comment on Announcement.

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP).—While neither country has yet approached the other officially on the subject of arbitration the prospects of that principle being adopted in an attempt to settle the American-Mexican oil and land law tangle at least have advanced a step with the announcement by the Mexican foreign office that the Calles government accepts arbitration in principle.

Previous to that announcement, made last night in Mexico City, President Calles had stated unofficially that he might consider arbitration to avoid a greater evil for his country, and Secretary Kellogg had said that he had given that formula consideration for possible application in the present dispute. Neither has indicated, however, whether a definite official proposal would be made to that end and both official pronouncements thus far have been made only in press statements.

That made by the Mexican foreign office last night was very brief. Written in English, it said:

"Answering numerous questions with regard to the present publication in the press, the Mexican government declares that it is ready to accept in principle that its difficulties with the United States should be decided by way of arbitration."

Secretary Kellogg withheld comment on the announcement. Previously he had reiterated that no indication of an arbitration offer from Mexico had been received in official channels, and the understanding was that the secretary himself had not committed himself beyond his statement on the Robinson arbitration resolution in which he said he welcomed an expression of that nature from the Senate.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Jan. 21 (AP).—The National Limited on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad today ploughed into landslide in a blinding fog and rain near Salem, W. Va., according to reports received here. No one was injured.

The train, en route to New York from St. Louis, was running about 25 miles an hour. The engine and the first three coaches crashed into a mass of earth. A large tree also had fallen across the rails. The locomotive was damaged. The cars remained on the track.

Heavy rains were believed to have caused the earth movement.

Only two bills of minor importance were introduced in the lower house.

Tribe To Leave

Monroe, Jan. 21 (AP).—Disciples of Nikolai Lenin joined today in a nation-wide tribute to the memory of the "founder of Bolshevism" on the occasion of the third anniversary of his death.

A Dutch roadster standing over their home about 10:40 o'clock that evening and afterward saw the car move off without lights.

Another witness, whose name is withheld, testified that he was accosted by a man in a white robe. The man, he said, was distinctly not a K. K. K. garment, but a crude, homemade one, sewed with a tannery seam and furnished with two strips in its top for the eyes and free from any insignia whatever. The informant claimed to be familiar with the Klan costume. Ellenville street reports say that the K. K. K. branch of Ellenville has offered a reward of $200 for information leading to a solution of the case.

Patrolman and Wife Missing

Officials Believe Couple Were Kidnapped By Shelton Gangsters—Patrolman Testified at Hearing of Householders Murders.

Marion, Ill., Jan. 21 (AP).—The whereabouts of Lory L. Price, state highway patrolman, and his wife, Ethel, remained undisclosed today as Williamson county officers and a band of patrolmen continued scouring the territory in the belief the couple were kidnapped by Shelton gangsters.

Price and his wife were last seen Monday night then they attended a show here.

The patrolman, who was friendly with Charles Birger, leader of a gang in bitter rivalry with the Shelton faction, was the last known person to visit Birger's roadside, Shady Rest, before it was dynamited and burned January 9. Four persons were killed in the affray.

With a reconvened inquest into the death of the four persons scheduled for next week, investigation is proceeding on the theory that Price, who testified at a previous hearing, was taken away to prevent his appearance at the session. Price testified at the first hearing that he was at the roadside and had seen Steve George, the caretaker, Mrs. George and a stranger there.

Another reason for supporting the kidnapping theory was Price's story to fellow patrolmen that his automobile was forced off the highway last Friday by another car containing Carl Shelton, leader of the gang.

Says Husband Sent Thanks for Suit

In Separation Suit, Former Ellenville Woman Says Husband Characterized Proceedings as "Delightful Little Christmas Remembrance."

Charging that her husband became infatuated with a telephone operator in the Mitchell House at Ellenville which he owns, Mrs. Marguerita A. Rexford Shurter of 335 St. John's Place, Brooklyn, has brought suit for separation against J. Leslie Shurter, former widely known, spectacular basketball player of Poughkeepsie and an employee of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company, says the Poughkeepsie Evening Star.

Ten years ago Les Shurter was one of the best known basketball players in Poughkeepsie. He played with the Gas Company quintet, the old Mercury five, the Dutch Arms Club and other fast teams. In his basketball career he was one of the high scorers on the basketball courts.

Shurter married Miss Marguerita A. Rexford, then of Ellenville, October 25, 1919. For a time they lived at the Nelson House, while Mr. Shurter was employed at the Central Hudson Company.

In her suit, Mrs. Shurter alleges that her husband wrote her recently thanking her for suing him for separation. She alleges that he characterized the proceedings as "a delightful little Christmas remembrance."

Mrs. Shurter was awarded $30 a week alimony and $250 counsel fee by Justice Callaghan in Brooklyn special term of Supreme court, pending trial of the case.

In her complaint, Mrs. Shurter alleges further that her husband left her June 20, 1926, shortly after he had been left a legacy of $250,000 by his father, and that he became infatuated with Miss Evadne Hasbrouck, Ellenville telephone operator. Shurter was attentive to Miss Hasbrouck and gave her an automobile and a diamond ring, according to his wife's allegations.

Melvin A. Rexford, Mrs. Shurter's father, avors to an affidavit that her husband's conduct with Miss Hasbrouck was causing his daughter "mental anguish."

Norris Describes Killing Chipps

Austin, Tex., Jan. 21 (AP).—Dr. J. Frank Norris, fundamentalist pastor of Fort Worth, on the witness stand today, told his story of how he killed Dexter E. Chipps in his church office last July 17.

Weeping and halting over each word, he related how Chipps had come to his office, had demanded that he come attacks on Chipps's friends, had threatened to kill him, and of how he shot Chipps when he said the latter came at him with his hand on his hip pocket.

Before giving this part of the story he had heard himself bitterly assailed and warmly defended by attorneys in arguments over the admission of certain evidence. He sat silently in the witness box for more than an hour listening to these arguments in which truth of his past was discussed.

Smith Denied Seat, Vote 48-33

Senator-Designate Silent on Vote Refusing Him Oath of Office—Committee Called To Make Arrangements For Public Hearing.

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP).—Denied a seat in the Senate to which he holds a certificate of appointment, Frank L. Smith of Illinois, must await another investigation into the financing of his primary campaign last year and a vote on the findings before learning whether he will sit in the present Congress.

The vote by which the senator-designate was refused the oath of office pending the inquiry by the elections committee was 48 to 33. It was reached late yesterday after nearly two days of debate.

Smith had no comment to make. Governor Small, who appointed Smith to serve out the unexpired term of the late Senator McKim, whom he defeated for the next Congress at last year's primary, said at Springfield that he had nothing to say at this time.

The elections committee has been called to meet tomorrow to make arrangements for a public hearing for Smith. He will be given every opportunity, according to its members, to add any details he desires to the testimony he gave last summer before the Reed Campaign Funds Committee regarding contributions he received from Samuel Insull and other public utilities officials in Illinois.

Refugees Tell of Fochow Riots

American Missionaries Arrive at Manila Aboard U. S. Destroyer With Stories of Violence To American and British Women.

Manila, Jan. 21 (AP).—Sixty-five American missionaries, refugees from Fochow, arrived here today aboard the United States destroyer Pillsbury with stories of the anti-foreign demonstrations in the Chinese city which resulted in violence to American and British women.

The refugee party was made up of 31 women, 31 children and three men from the Methodist, Baptist and Congregational missions of Fochow. The majority are Methodists.

Among them was Mrs. E. G. Price, wife of the American consul at Fochow, and her four children.

Mrs. Price said the outbreak started when the bodies of natives in a convent there who had died of cholera were carried out while a riot was in progress. Seeing the bodies and not knowing the cause of the deaths, the Chinese ran wild and the convent was stormed and looted.

On the next day the trouble spread over the entire city, becoming so serious that virtually all foreigners left. Mr. Price remained at his post. The refugees were met here by religious and Red Cross workers and public officials.

Send MacMurray Back to Peking

Increasing Seriousness of Anti-Foreign Demonstrations and Rioting in China Results in Order Calling Off Minister's Trip Home.

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP).—American Minister MacMurray, en route home for conferences with Secretary Kellogg, has been intercepted by a cablegram and order back to Peking as a result of the increasing seriousness of anti-foreign demonstrations and rioting in China.

Mr. MacMurray left Peking January 18 with his wife and two children. Secretary Kellogg cabled to him at Tokyo and points in Korea, but it was not announced where he had been intercepted. The advice merely saying he had received his new instructions.

It was emphasized at the state department that the general increase in the anti-foreign movement and its spread to Fochow and Amoy within the last day or two, had prompted Mr. Kellogg to order MacMurray back to his post, notwithstanding the secretary's desire to talk over the situation in person with the department's recognized authority on Chinese and other far eastern conditions. No immediate action in plan, it was said, for the department had not yet been advised of the latest felt by diplomats there that the trouble might spread to the capital itself.

Action of the American charge, Ferdinand Mayer, at Peking in arranging a cordon of day and night signals by means of which American residents there can be warned quickly and concentrated in the legation compound under protection of the marine guard, probably was in line with a decision of the diplomatic corps that steps were necessary as a precaution against outbreaks at Peking, it was suggested at the department.

Calf Skin When Varished Makes Smart Fur—and a Diamond Replaces the Buttonhole.

Paris.—The poor little calf has no time to be fattened for the return of the prodigal to France. Between being the main course usually on the daily menu and being skinned for coats and handbags, life is rather a short and sad affair for the animal.

One of the smartest bag makers in Paris has conceived the idea of varishing calf skin, making it very smart indeed for handbags. It is, of course, used without varnish, but when so treated it gives a very new and interesting angle to the use of not only calf but any other skin. One rather small envelope bag, rather more square than oblong, made of varished calf, has an applique border of red kid; for red accessories continue to be much worn here, and even for spring are not discounted. On the always fascinating subject of accessories, a decorative one is a rhinestone button which, worn in one's buttonhole, replaces the boutonniere.

The Matching Hat and Bag Illustrated Above Is of Grosgrain Sou-tache in Ombre Effect of Tan and Brown. The Bag Is Mounted on a Beige Suede Covered Frame and a Large Black Stone Is the Fastening. The Envelope, Also of the Sou-tache, Is in Two Shades of Red, the Lighter Tone Used for the Border. A Carved Silver Button Provides the Fastening.

Counters: A well-dressed girl dining at an essentially French restaurant one night recently wore bold, de rose crepe, the dress cut with a V neckline and having narrow revers. The left one was button-holed and contained a plain, very brilliant diamond button. Her long tight sleeves served as a background for at least six wide diamond bracelets.

In looking about at the well-dressed women assembled, it was discovered that every woman wore pearls of one sort or another. A single strand around the neck and looped to hang down the center of the back was one arrangement effective with the deep V décolleté. The dress was of white satin beaded in apple blossom design and coloring. Another and very popular arrangement is a double row of pearls around the base of the throat, the long and drawn through a loop and hanging down the front. It is still smart to wind pearls around one's wrist. Even when a diamond wrist-watch is worn, bracelets may be added.

EVERYDAY FOOD

When fresh mackerels cannot be obtained there is nothing better than the salted variety. It is packed in small wooden pails, with heads and tails removed so there is almost no waste. When soaked over night and then baked for twenty minutes, covered with cream, they are delicious eating.

Mackerel Potato Balls.—Cut enough pared potatoes into quarters to fill a pint cup. Turn into a saucepan and cover with boiling water and cook until tender. Mash and mix with baked leftover cooked mackerel. Shape into balls, add seasoning and fry in fat after dipping the balls in egg.

Pacific Salad.—Take one cupful of cooked spaghetti cut into bits, one good-sized stalk of celery, two green peppers all cut fine, add two sugar cucumber pickles cut into thin slices and plenty of good boiled salad dressing.

Savory Loaf of Beef.—Take two pounds of beef from the top of the round, one cupful of bread crumbs, three-fourths of a cupful of milk, two tablespoonsful of butter, one egg, one dash of nutmeg and cayenne and the juice of one lemon. Add the dry ingredients, then the melted butter, lemon juice, egg well beaten and milk. Roll into a loaf and dust well with salt, pepper and bread crumbs; bake forty-five minutes, baste with butter and water or with beef extracts and water. Serve with a brown mushroom sauce.

Rice and Coconut Custard.—Put one-half of a cupful of well-washed rice into a double boiler with three pints of milk, cook until very soft, then set aside to cool. Beat three eggs—leaving out the white of one—add one cupful of sugar, and one cupful of fresh grated coconut. Stir into the cold mixture and bake in a moderate oven. Cover with a meringue made from the beaten white and two tablespoonsful of powdered sugar. Brown and serve with cream.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, Jan. 21.—There were no church services on Sunday owing to the snow storm.

Recent examinations are being conducted in the High Falls School this week and the pupils who have to come a long distance find it rather difficult in getting here.

The Hart family, who spent a short time at their cottage here, have returned to the city.

Mrs. David Rosenbaum is spending some time in the city. The P. T. A. held a regular monthly meeting on Tuesday last. John Colwell, a former resident of this place, and his friend of Bayonne, New Jersey, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Coan.

The people of this place are taking advantage of the sales in Kingston, regardless of bad roads.

BLOOMINGTON.
Bloomington, Jan. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. William Charlton and family have moved to Tonawanda where Mr. Charlton is now employed. Their friends wish them luck in their new home.

Mrs. William Van Allen of Port Jervis recently spent some time with her sister, Mrs. Helen, and her daughter, Mrs. Edwin L. Fenn. She returned home accompanied by her sister who will spend some time with her.

following. Evening services at 7:30. The Rev. C. V. W. Bedford, Mrs. Bedford and Florence Reilly were entertained at dinner on Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nash.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dambach entertained a number of friends last week. No services were held in the church on Sunday due to the snow storm.

Residents thank Edwin J. LeFevre and William J. Davis for the work they did in removing snow from the roads.

Mrs. Neal Hastings was called to Kingston on Wednesday by illness of her mother, Mrs. Catherine Nelson.

Mrs. Hardington of Crook Lake is ill.

It isn't the clothes which make the new stars—it's the women that should be in them.

Study Self When Choosing Clothes

Dress to Accommodate Permanent Features, Fashion Authority Advises.

To any one who has made a study of dress and clothes, certain aspects of the present-day costume must seem uninteresting and rather discouraging. observes a fashion authority in the New York Herald-Tribune. "I do not say this in a wholly disparaging way, because I sincerely believe that the existing conditions might easily be improved if women would learn to think of themselves more and of the mode less."

It is not difficult. One should ask herself, not, "What is fashionable?" but, "What do I need?" and not, "What is the style?" but, "What am I?" Study yourself. When you have learned all about yourself, then dress accordingly, in a manner to accommodate your own permanent features. Of course, study the mode, too. But do not adapt yourself to the mode; adapt the mode to yourself.

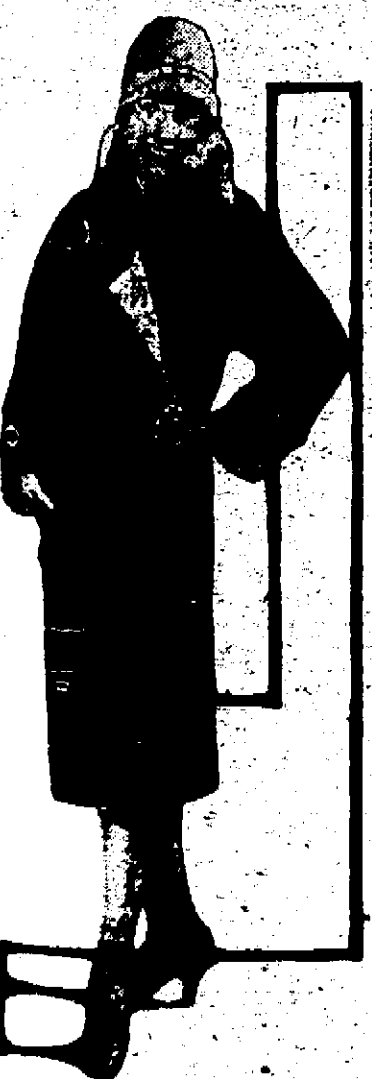

In order to achieve distinction you must drop patterns. Patterns are easy, but they are not expressive.

To be well dressed a woman must not look like other well-dressed women; she must look like herself. To look like herself, she must know herself. Personally, I believe that each of us has her prototype in a bygone age. I sometimes feel that somewhere, in some other age, I myself existed, and that in some future time I shall exist again. When I visit the art galleries this view is invariably strengthened, as I always find in the works of the old masters persons whom I might actually have been. I am sure that most women feel just as I do in similar circumstances. To recognize oneself in an old portrait is to realize potentialities which in modern days are for the most part unfulfilled. I think it would be wise to study these paintings after we have discovered which is our particular type, and analyze the style of the dress.

Surely we can find our inspiration in the art galleries. Ladies today think too much of newness, but all things, even fashions in clothes, travel in cycles. We must not neglect styles which have stood the test of generations merely because they are old. We do not cease to admire beautiful music or paintings or literature merely because they are old. Beauty does not age, nor do its standards alter. But in the question of the arts new techniques are discovered and new treatments of old themes. It is thus with the artists of clothing. Before they can design new styles they must study the old ones and make an analysis of the factors which have lasted and proved successful for long periods.

I think, then, that first a woman must study herself. She must patronize the art galleries and find herself in Greek sculpture and old paintings. Then when she selects her clothes she will bear in mind what types she has worn through the ages and will make her present choice accordingly. In this way I think we may develop greater distinction in our dress and regain that individuality which I fear we have almost lost. Tradition in this instance is a safe light to guide us.

THE GREAT BOY SWIMMER.

The saying that "youth must be served" is recalled by the astonishing exploit of the 17-year-old Toronto boy, George Young, the only one of a hundred swimmers, many of them tried veterans, who succeeded in the difficult task presented by the capricious Catalina Channel on the California coast.

We read that "men who had conquered the English Channel, men who had international reputations when Young was just learning to paddle; women, too, ninety-nine swimmers in all, had quit the gruelling race across the stretch of treacherous water never before crossed by a swimmer, when the boy stood up at last on the rocks of Point Vicente." In spite of the "bitter cold" and choppy seas, though buffeted by waves and swept by currents, this amazing boy was enabled to maintain to the end the steady crawl stroke that has made him the Canadian champion.

How was he able to do it? Probably the boy himself is no surer of the answer than others. His triumph—including wide fame and the $25,000 prize—is all the greater because his bold effort was widely regarded as ridiculous and accepted with amused toleration. Even the expert observers of this line of sport are stumped and pointedly reminded that "you never can tell."

According to a Denver despatch the "president of the Liberal Church" there announces its removal to New Mexico, where "we plan to operate the largest still and winery in America"—and further: "We have 72,000 members. The Volstead act states we can manufacture six gallons of liquor for each member of a family subscribing to our tenets. The average family has four persons, so we plan to manufacture 1,728,000 gallons this year." If the Volstead act so "states," propositions to change it would no longer be regarded as treasonable. But the Volstead act states nothing of this kind.

Henry J. Steen, an undersized ten-year-old boy of Austin, Texas, applied for a job as page in the State Legislature, but was turned down, one amused member telling him that his legs were not long enough. And what did the resourceful youngster then do? "Gentlemen," he solemnly announced, "what this Legislature needs is brains, not legs." Flabbergasted by the "satirist smart crack" it ever received, the Texas Legislature surrendered and the terrifying youngster got the job.

In his third inaugural address Governor Ritchie of Maryland once more sounded a warning against continual Federal centralization and surrender by states of local self-government in more and more particulars. The trend is all the greater because members of Governor Ritchie's own party are now keeping pace in seeking Federal subsidies or otherwise putting state affairs partly into Federal hands.

A "million dollar Congress" was regarded as scandalous a quarter of a century ago, but already the "million dollar Steel Corporation" is an old story, and now the current annual reports are said to reveal the existence of even billion-dollar American banks. It is stated that the deposits during 1926 in the National City Bank of New York have run the aggregate over the billion dollar mark.

When the "dry" powers got after him for what he said recently about "this fool Volstead act" General Butler is reported to have "squared himself" by saying his real meaning was that there ought to be enough prohibition to reach the rich as well as the poor—which has been said with point a few times before.

A motorist who ran down two persons in Philadelphia the other day said that the weather, and he, was to blame. He hadn't said "too cold to stop properly." Though that should not let him off, it is a timely warning to motorists to stop or jump a little when they are driving in a cold snap.

It is reported that Prince William of Sweden is willing to share wealth with everybody who pays $40 for a box at his first lecture. If an American President received that much for every hand he shook during a four-year term, he could almost enter the Ford and Rockefeller class.

A POINT ABOUT APPENDICITIS.

Perhaps you wonder why some individuals recover from appendicitis, others die before operation, others have the operation and recover, and still others die even after the operation.

Now an attack of appendicitis may seem just like any severe pain, the patient gets better, and not until he has another attack perhaps more severe, and is taken to hospital, does he remember the previous attack. The surgeon is able to tell him about it, because the appendix may be tied down by the tissue formed by the inflammation in the previous attack.

Now the majority of the pains you have in the abdomen are due to gas, and whilst some of them are very severe, they differ from appendicitis in some respects.

However, it is very important that you recognize the pain from appendicitis early.

Why?

Because the chances of coming through the operation safely are better than ninety-nine out of a hundred if appendicitis is recognized early. Even after twenty-four hours the chances are about ninety-nine in a hundred. After the first day, the chances become somewhat less, and if delayed two or three days, are about ninety-five in a hundred. However, although most of the abdominal pains are gas pains, a Virginia physician, Dr. Rawle, points out that in nearly seventy per cent of the cases of appendicitis, an aching or pain begins about, or above the navel or middle of abdomen, and gradually spreads over abdomen in two or three hours. Then in about six to twelve hours after the onset, it settles in the lower right part of abdomen. The pain may or may not be severe and may or may not be cramp like, but the main point is that after being in the middle of abdomen it settles in lower right portion in two-thirds of appendicitis cases.

So remember then that abdominal pains are usually due to gas, and that there are at least twenty other conditions in the abdomen that may resemble appendicitis, but the above symptom should never be lost sight of in pain in abdomen.

ROSENDALE GRANGE HOLDS OLD FASHIONED DANCE

The Grangers of Rosendale staged an old fashioned dance as their first introduction to the public Wednesday evening at the All Saints Parish House of that village. And much to the surprise of the committee in charge there was not room enough to comfortably accommodate the people who came from the neighboring villages and Kingston. The weather was unfavorable for folks living out of town but that made no difference. Young and old mingled together and much merriment prevailed.

The old fashioned dances seemed to hold the sway. Floyd Deitz of Blauwater played the accordion in tune perfectly for the old fashioned dances such as the lancers, the square dance and the Paul Jones. He was applauded many times not only by the older folks but by the younger people.

Mr. Fein, leader of the Ciel Orchestra of Rosendale, Miss Nell Daley, John Keegan, William Delany and Mrs. C. I. LeFever constituted the orchestra for the fox trot and waltzes.

The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion. Delicious refreshments were served. Nothing was spared in the way of making the Grangers' friends feel at home. It was an evening that will long be remembered.

Delicious refreshments were served and all had a very enjoyable evening.

The Pearl Gatherers had a social at the home of Mrs. Osterman, 31 St. James street, on Wednesday evening. All had a pleasant time.

TODAY'S STORY IN NEW YORK HISTORY

by Frederic A. Goddard (Copyright, 1927, by the Author)

An Undeserved Stigma Placed on the War Record of General Porter, January 21, 1862.

General Grant, after his term of service as President had ended, published as his conclusions of the court-martial of Major General Fitz-John Porter, that it was an "undeserved stigma," and that he was convinced of his innocence.

Fitz-John Porter was the son of Captain John Porter, of the United States Navy, and nephew of Commodore David Porter, who commanded the famous frigate "Essex" in the War of 1812.

Young Porter was graduated from United States Military Academy at West Point in 1845, and served gallantly in the War with Mexico, where he was twice promoted for conspicuous valor. After the war he was instructor of artillery at West Point. In 1856 was appointed assistant adjutant-general, and in 1857-59 served under General A. S. Johnston in the Utah expedition.

In 1860 he was made assistant inspector-general, with headquarters in New York; and in this post, during the Baltimore riots, he superintended the defense of the railway between Harrisburg and Baltimore.

He became colonel of the 15th U. S. Infantry on May 14, 1861, and three days later brigadier-general of volunteers. He participated in the peninsular campaign, and after the capture of Yorktown, was for a brief while its governor.

General Porter was then placed in command of the Fifth Corps, which he led at Mechanicsville and Gaines Mills. For his conduct at Malvern Hill, and at the battle of Chickahominy he was brevetted brigadier-general of the U. S. Army. On July 4, 1862, he was commissioned major-general of volunteers.

While temporarily attached to Pope's army of Virginia, the second battle of Bull Run occurred, August 29-30, 1862. On the first day his corps was ordered to advance, but found itself unable to do so; on the afternoon of the second day, however, it was in action, and by its stubborn bravery saved the defeat from being a complete rout.

Pope was dejected by the reverse, which he attributed largely to Porter's failure to execute orders. He made a complaint but, preferred no charges. Porter was in every action with his corps, at Antietam and Shepherdstown, and on November 27, 1862, he was arraigned before a court-martial at Washington, charged with disobeying orders at the Second Bull Run.

On January 21, 1863, General Porter was cashiered, and for violation of the 9th and 25th articles of war, was "forever disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit under the government of the United States."

This sentence for sixteen years remained unaltered. Its justice was much debated, and numerous appeals were made for a reopening of the case, and Porter himself several times petitioned for a reversal of the judgment.

Grant, while President declined to reopen the case; but after his second term, upon examination of all the testimony, published in an article entitled "An Undeserved Stigma" (December, 1922), his conclusions to the effect that Porter was by the evidence vindicated of the charges against him.

Under President Hayes a military board acquitted Porter of all fault save unwelcome criticism of his superior. President Arthur remitted the sentence as far as disability to hold office was concerned. President Cleveland signed an act of Congress, passed July 1, 1886, which restored Porter to the U. S. Army as a colonel, to rank from May 14, 1861. On August 7, 1886, he was placed on the retired list.

Subsequent to 1863, General Porter was interested in mining operations in Colorado; a merchant in New York 1865-70; superintendent of the erection of New Jersey State Asylum for the Insane at Morris-town; commissioner of public works, New York, 1875-8; assistant receiver of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, 1877-82; police commissioner of New York, 1884-5; 8th commissioner, 1885-9; and cashier of the post office, 1893-7.

An offer, received from the khedive, to command the Egyptian forces with major general's rank, was declined.

General Porter died May 21, 1901.

FURNITURE and RUGS are bought to use for years and years; often the children inherit them. Why is it not of more importance to shop around, when buying something that is as important as furniture? You see it every day—you live with it year after year; your friends see it and often judge you by its appearance; it is your companion—choose it as such.

The way to buy furniture is to look around, shop around, see it all and compare quality as well as price. After you have done this we invite you to visit STOCK & CORDTS.

If we can't save you money—Sale or no Sale—today or any other day of the year—then we are certainly spending a lot of foolish money on advertising.

Radiocast Opera In Part Tonight

Microphones will be used in the radio-cast of "Faust" tonight. The music will be broadcast by WEAF and WJZ chains.

Chicago, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Civic Opera Company's stage production of "Faust" will be broadcast in part tonight by one of the largest hook-ups of radio stations ever known. The famous third act of the opera is to be radiocast—the "garden scene," the "invocation," the "duet" and the "eternelle," playing the Marguerite role will be Edith Mason, whose husband, Giorgio Palacosi, will direct. Richard D'Oyly, principal baritone of the company, will be Valentine, brother of Marguerite. Charles Hackett, the American tenor, will sing the Faust role, with Yanni-Marcos cast as the Witches. Maria Cassens and Irene Pavlouka are other principals. The combined skill of the best radio technicians for several weeks has been engaged for this first station-wide radiocasting of a leading opera company successful.

Fifteen microphones will be used in picking up the notes of the opera, "atmosphere" of the auditorium, and in sending it over many miles of telephone wires to widely separated stations which in turn will put it on the air and into hundreds of thousands of homes in continental America.

Seven of the microphones are connected in the footlights of the auditorium stage, advantageously placed to pick up solo orchestra numbers. Two microphones are in the floor above the stage. These others are in the orchestra pit. Two microphones are suspended high above the audience to provide general balance and carry to the auditorium the atmosphere of the theatre. The fifth "micro" is in the wings, and will be used by the announcer, Milton J. Cross, of Station WJZ.

Each microphone is connected briefly with a "mixing panel" operated by E. F. Grossman, also of the WJZ staff. It is the "mixing panel" that is the key to the successful radiocasting of the opera.

The music will be broadcast by the WEAF and WJZ chains starting at 9:30 central time.

Game Tonight At High School

The Kingston High School basketball team will go into action tonight against the Raymond Borden School team of Highland tonight on the local court. The Kingston players expect a hard game but are planning to put up one of the most brilliant fights of the season against the team that beat them by 3 markers on the Highland court several weeks ago.

Kingston will probably use the regular lineup except Wonderly and Bruck who will not be seen on the floor in a maroon and white uniform. Joyce will no doubt take the pivot position to supplement the two players who usually perform in the middle of the court.

A preliminary contest will be staged between the Faculty Five and the Red Shields. This game will start at 7:15 and at the end of the performance, which promises to be a fast one, the big game will proceed.

A large crowd is expected to lend support to the teams and a cordial invitation is extended to the alumni of the school to witness the contests.

Game Up Prized Sword in Expiation of Crime

In the high mountains beyond Nihon, in central Japan, nestles Lake Chussei, and above it the sacred mountain Nantai San rears its bare crest. Once it was the dwelling place of a pacific Buddhist hermit saint. Pilgrims from all parts of Japan climb its steep slopes. They are dressed in white robes, carry staffs and rosaries in hand, and chant a Buddhist prayer as they climb. An avenue of scarlet lacquer "torii," or gateways, guides the pilgrim to the shrine on the summit.

Near the peak is a bare patch of rock, overhanging a steep precipice. On this rock is a heap of swords, daggers and other weapons, rusted with age. In ancient times a man who had committed a deed of blood made a pilgrimage to Nantai San and offered up his weapon in expiation of his crime. To the Samurai, the warrior, his sword was his most prized possession, and the murderer who sacrificed his precious sword gave up in atonement what he valued more than his own life.

This heap of ancient sword blades, daggers and other weapons can be seen on Nantai San at present, a relic of feudal times.

"Shut-ins" Not Dead to All Worldly Affairs

The woman visited a friend at a sanatorium the other day—one of those places in the country where they try to make convalescence bearable. She had to wait until she could see her friend, so she sat down on the porch. At the far end a group of women patients were talking with absorbed interest.

The one in the wheel chair evidently had a great deal to tell. The woman wondered what it could be about. She knew the story of those particular patients. All three had been invalids for years; they always would be bound to their chairs and crutches. Just then she was called, and as she passed the group she heard: "When I bake tomatoes I fill them with bread crumbs and butter and..."

"That's just the way I fix peppers, and my husband used to say..."

The woman went inside. She was "shut-in" round the mouth, but sort of teary around the lashes, when she thought of that hopeful, reminiscent group of cooks.—New York Sun.

Mirror Made Trouble

To the back roads of South Africa there penetrated one day a traveler, who possessed many treasures the old farmer had never seen before. Among them was a mirror.

"Where did you get that?" asked the farmer, as he gazed into it; "that picture of my father!"

The traveler did not explain, but gave it to him as a souvenir, and it became his most cherished possession. Every day he looked at his "father's picture," and kept it carefully locked up, showing it to no one.

But there came a day when he left his keys behind, and his wife, who had long wondered what it was he kept so carefully, started rummaging and found the mirror.

"Oh," she murmured, as she gazed into it, "so that's the cat he's after, is it?"

Busy Time Ahead For Federation

The January meeting of the executive committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs was held Thursday afternoon at the Kingston City Library and was unusually well attended. Mrs. A. Ray Fowler, the president, presided. Following the routine business, brief reports were given by the club representatives. Dr. Day as chairman of the public health committee reported some $5,000 already received from the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas seals, a most gratifying showing in spite of the amazing fact that some 2,000 people in Ulster county have in no way acknowledged their letters containing the Christmas seals sent out the first of December. They have neither paid for their seals nor returned them.

Dr. Day also announced that the public health committee had exchanged with Sorosis as to dates of acting as hostess of the Federation committee would entertain the Federation the third Saturday in March. Dr. Day said she had secured as speaker for the meeting Miss Lyon of Albany whose subject would be "The Public Health Department of The League of Nations." Dr. Day had no special report to make as chairman of the moving picture committee but the attention of all present was called to the fact that the death of some seventy children in a fire in a Montreal movie theatre might not have occurred had the laws been obeyed of requiring children under a certain age to be accompanied by some adult person. There is a similar ordinance here and the question was raised whether parents and those responsible for small children see that this ordinance is observed.

The president told of attending the initial meeting relative to the historic pageant to be held in the summer. She also expressed her appreciation of the courtesy of the Chamber of Commerce in inviting her, as president of the Federation, to the annual dinner of the C. of C. She also announced that February 28 would be club women's day at the Grand Central Palace in New York city when the Architectural and Allied Arts Exposition would be held there by the architects' League of New York city.

Announcement was made that the Federation would hold a food sale at the Rose-Gorman-Rose store on Saturday, February 12, beginning at 2 o'clock and all members of the Federation were urged to send in cakes, pies, biscuits, bread, etc. for the sale in order to make it as big a financial success as possible. The meeting closed with the announcement of the January open meeting to be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the chapel of the First Reformed Church. At three o'clock the meeting will be turned over to the Lowell Club who will present Mrs. Purdy, state president, as the speaker. All club and Federation women are especially urged to attend and extend their greetings to the state president.

Your Income Tax

The revenue act of 1926 provides that if the status of a taxpayer changes during the year his personal exemption shall be determined by apportionment, in accordance with the number of months the taxpayer was single, married or the head of a family. The act of 1924 contained a similar provision.

For example, a couple married on July 31, 1926, and living together on December 31, 1926, may file a joint return and claim an exemption of $3,208.33. That is, seven-twelfths of $1,500 for the husband while single, or $875, plus seven-twelfths of $1,500 for the wife while single, plus five-twelfths of $3,500, or $1,458.33, for the period during which they were married. If separate returns are made husband and wife may each claim a personal exemption of $1,604.17. The husband is entitled to seven-twelfths of $1,500, or $875, for the period during which he was single, and one-half of five-twelfths of $3,500, or $729.17, for the period during which he was married. The wife is entitled to similar exemptions. In case separate returns are filed, the joint exemption of $1,458.33 for the period during which they were married may be taken either by husband or wife, or divided between them.

A person who, on July 31, ceased being the head of a family—the support in one household of a relative, or relatives, being discontinued—1, entitled to an exemption of $2,666.67, which is seven-twelfths of $1,500, plus five-twelfths of $3,500, or $1,500, credit for each dependent. The taxpayer's status as of the last day of the taxable year determines this credit. If, during the year, his support of such dependent ceased, he is not entitled to this credit.

Old Palace Haunted by Caligula's Ghost?

In the northern angle of the Palatine hill stands a palace, which the people of Rome believe to be haunted by the ghost of the half-mad Caligula, the emperor who surpassed even Nero in cruelty and bloodthirstiness. Pierre Van Passen relates, in the Atlanta Constitution. Though the guide refused to accompany us mid the half-moldered ruins, we encountered no ghost in any of the historic halls, though we half expected to see phantoms repeat the ghastly scenes that were once enacted here. For here Caligula, reclining at the banquet table, burst out laughing and when asked the cause of his mirth replied: "How easy it would be to have the heads of my courtiers roll over the marble floors." In this same chamber Claudius was feasting when he was informed that his wife Messalina was dead and received the news with a jest, then ordered a slave to pour him a cup of wine. And here also the same emperor devoured his fatal repast of mushrooms of which Tacitus speaks, a dish prepared by his loving wife and niece, Agrippina, in order to make way to the throne for her son Nero.

Found Begging Paid Better Than Writing

A beggar on the streets of Buenos Aires can make $1.25 in an hour. An unskilled laborer draws about $2 for eight hours of work. The working classes contribute 80 per cent of the money that beggars collect, and domestic servants give more than all the rest put together. Young girls are more charitable than older women, and widows more than women whose husbands still live. Among all classes, women contribute most to the beggar's board, giving more and more frequently than men. Among men, cart drivers are more liberal than chauffeurs, and clerks more free-handed than their employers.

This cross-section of the privy purse of Buenos Aires was drawn by a reporter who disguised himself as a "down-and-out" and then spent a lucrative day begging in all sections of the business and shopping districts. During the five hours he made $1.25, which was four times as much as he made working 15 hours as a reporter for his newspaper, which he returned to his friends, who he charged back to scribble and speak, would even be looking for a man to replace him.

Early Montmartre

Montmartre, the hill of Paris, derives its name perhaps from the Latin, mons martius, but probably from the fact that back in the Roman days a temple of Mars was located on the summit, says the Independent. For many years it remained a little village famous for its wine and its gayety. Then a convent for Benedictine nuns was erected where the temple once stood. In 1660 the wall separating Montmartre from Paris was destroyed and Paris began to creep up the hill.

Miller Describes Local Clergymen

New York City League District
Superintendent Gives Impressions
of Pastors of Some City Churches
as Formed from Hearing Their Sermons.

In these days of the new year when the business men of Kingston are "taking stock" and making a fresh appraisal of their assets, profits and losses as they review 1926, it seems an appropriate time to make a fresh estimate of the religious life and institutions of the city, particularly as represented by the city clergy of the protestant churches.

During the past year, an opportunity has offered, when spending a Sunday in the city, I have visited practically every English speaking protestant church of Kingston, and heard the pastors preach. In one or two instances I made my visit at a week night service. I had hoped to visit the Roman Catholic Churches and the Jewish Synagogues before the year closed but failed to find opportunity so I must pass these latter by for the present.

I have been strongly impressed by the high intellectual average and deep religious earnestness of the sermons of the clergy of Kingston. I doubt if there is a city in the state whose high average surpasses it. An district superintendent of New York City League I call Kingston my headquarters, although I spend most of my time traveling over the eight counties of my territory which include Ulster and adjoining counties. While I am deeply interested in Kingston, still as a sort of an outsider, I feel that an estimate of the pastors of the city at this time might be of interest, and I venture to offer free from any prejudice, pro or con. I trust, my impressions of a year's visits among the churches of this city.

Space forbids me to attempt to give any extracts of the sermons I have heard. My purpose is rather to speak of the impressions made upon my own mind and heart as I have listened to the pastors and add a few general comments concerning their work.

I will take them up by denomination, alphabetically, beginning with the Baptist churches. The First Baptist Church, Rev. Arthur S. Cole has been the happy pastor of this church for twelve or fifteen years, I believe. It numbers among its members some of the substantial people of the city. I have heard Dr. Cole several times in recent years. I heard him again recently. As you listen to him speak, without notes of any kind, you quickly recognize that he is a thinker of rare caliber. He goes beneath the surface of his subject and goes through and around it and when he gets down you feel there is nothing left to say on the subject.

One does not always get this impression from sermons. At the same time his messages are scriptural and very helpful spiritually. It is clear why he holds such good audiences year after year. His text when I heard him preach was Psalms 55:18-19, a wonderfully helpful, interesting and illuminating sermon.

The Wurts Street Baptist Church, Rev. Charles B. Smith, D. D., the pastor, has served only a year or two, but he has made a deep impression upon the city and won a host of friends here. I have heard him preach two or three times. Each time as I left the church I found myself saying, "What a fortunate people to have such a profoundly spiritual inspiring preacher." Dr. Smith is plainly a man who spends much time with his Bible and in communion with God. His people love him both as a man and as a preacher. He is certainly a rare interpreter of the Bible, often reminding me of the great Spurgeon.

His church ought to be filled every Sunday. His charming personality makes him friends everywhere he goes. He is also a tireless pastor, giving himself, without reserve, day and night to his people. We anticipate a very successful pastorate for him in this city.

Union Baptist Church, (Colored).—This is a new church recently started in the city, on Hudson street, but its small chapel is altogether too small to accommodate the crowds that flock to hear the brilliant young pastor, the Rev. Charles H. King. The Freeman of December 20th had an article of mine concerning this church and pastor I need add no more now.

The Frenchtown Congregational Church—It has been my privilege to hear the pastor, the Rev. F. W. Moot, several times in recent years and I can never shake off the conviction that he has the talents of head and heart to easily fill a far larger pulpit. He has a wonderfully keen, analytical mind that goes through a subject in a most illuminating, inspiring way. He is certainly a born orator. When he gets through you know what he has said. I have always found large audiences present, both morning and evening, and I can understand why. His sermons appeal to both head and heart, bringing an intellectual stimulation to every listener. His church has had a steady and splendid growth during his pastorate of eight or ten years.

The English Church of the Redeemer—Wurts street. The Rev. William J. Nelson is the popular pastor here. It was a cloudy Sunday night when I visited this church and the audience was not large, but the sermon was certainly worthy of the largest audience in the city. The church has an exceptionally fine choir and renders its part in superb style. The pastor's text, 1 Timothy 2:16. It was a thought provoking sermon. His subject took him into the realm of history and science as well as theology and was ably handled. I am told this church has one of the largest Sunday morning congregations of any church in the city and the pastor is justly popular among his own people and in the city generally. The following of his sermons will be of great value. The Clinton Avenue M. E. Church attended the Holy Cross Church the

—The Rev. E. G. Roth has been pastor of this large, flourishing church nearly two years and his ability as a preacher and organizer is making a deep impression. His sermon the evening I heard him stirred my heart as sermons do not ordinarily. I have known of his successful career before he came to Kingston and he will doubtless duplicate his record here. His sermons are scriptural and heart searching and ring with genuine sincerity that grips his listeners. He spends no time in the clouds but gets close to people in their every day life. His little church paper, The Clintonian, is attracting most favorable comments. He has a great church and with his strong personality he will doubtless have a very prosperous pastorate.

The Trinity M. E. Church—The Rev. D. H. Piper came to this church less than a year ago but his ability as a preacher and resourceful organizer are already bringing new hope and enthusiasm to his people. His sermons would be a credit to any pulpit in the city. While he believes, like most Methodist preachers, in the great fundamentals of the Christian faith, he is progressive theologically, and is ever open to new light and truth. This gives an up-to-dateness to his sermons that is refreshing, and which stimulates thought as well as helps to satisfy the soul hunger for God.

The St. James M. E. Church—The Rev. J. W. Tetley is one of the very best preachers in this city, if not the best by two or three sermons. St. James Church has had some of the great preachers of Methodism for its pastors. Mr. Tetley is ably maintaining this traditional high standard of its pulpit. Not long ago I heard him preach Sunday morning on "The Mind of Christ," a great theme worthy of a great sermon, as this one was. His text was Phil. 2:5. Mr. Tetley does not rush about on the platform. He speaks calmly for the most part in a conversational tone, although occasionally when the intensity of his soul is aroused he speaks louder and intensely, holding his audience in rapt attention as he sets forth the great truths that come from his head and heart, using always the choicest language. His sermon the morning I heard him was a model both in subject matter and delivery. He moved along steadily unfolding his great theme and more and more gripping the audience with the grandeur of its thought, till the audience in the last ten minutes of the sermon was held spellbound, and we believe that everybody wished that the hour for closing had not come.

The Free Methodist Church. One Sunday night in December I went to hear the pastor of this church, who happens to be a woman, Miss A. B. Collier. She was out of the city that day but her close friend, Mrs. Elsie M. Pultz, who lives in Kingston, and is the pastor of the Rosendale Baptist Church, occupied the pulpit. Knowing that Mrs. Pultz is the sister of two of the most distinguished Baptist preachers in the United States, I expected a good, strong, stirring, spiritual message, and I was not disappointed, and as I was discouraged on the text Isaiah 55:1-11. It was a splendid setting forth that Christian character, develops its finest specimens in the storm rather than in the sunshine of life, showing that the common pessimism of adversity has no place in the true Christian concept of the world. This little Methodist Church, however, is prospering under Miss Collier's labor, showing that there is a field for women in the pulpit, as several of the great religious denominations are now ordaining women to the ministry.

The Franklin Street A. M. E. Church—Rev. E. O. Clarke, the pastor, is very popular among his flock and is doing a vitally important work not only for the moral and spiritual lives of his people, but guiding them also in conscientious performance of their civic duties. The night I heard him speak he gave only a short address on the incarnation. I was happily surprised to find a man in his position discouraging so intelligently on this great fundamental theme of the Christian faith. He brought it out of the clouds of metaphysics and theology down to practical every day living which his people need. He clearly has a strong grip on the great Christian truths.

The St. Mark's A. M. E. Church—Rev. J. C. Parker, D. D., is the pastor of this live, aggressive church. While I have visited his church twice, unfortunately, I have never had an opportunity to hear him preach, but my personal conversations with him lead me to believe that he is a man far above the average intellectually, and spiritually. He showed that he is reading the latest books along all lines of human progress, keeping abreast of the times. I have no doubt whatever that his sermons are wonderfully inspiring for the spiritual life of his people.

St. John's Protestant Episcopal Church—This church, as is well known, is in the midst of building a magnificent new church on Albany avenue. While the new structure is being erected the congregation is crowded into a large private home on Albany avenue, filling several rooms. While their services at present lack in those environments that appeal to the eye, stimulate the imagination, touch the heart, subdue the spirit and help the soul of many to the richest worship, yet strangely the large audience that gathers there Sunday mornings to worship seems to catch the true spirit of worship.

The acting pastor, the Rev. A. H. Watkins, assisted by his splendid choir, one of the best in the city, conducted the service impressively. But the thing that particularly interested me was the half hour earnest, practical, timely sermon delivered extemporaneously by the rector on Romans 14:7. "For some of us preach to himself and some death to himself." He spoke of the inner relation of our lives to family, church and state. While strongly practical and social it was deeply spiritual, a great intellectual and religious inspiration. With such a preacher St. John's Church need have no doubting as to its future. I regret to say that the Sunday I attended the Holy Cross Church the rector did not preach and I was unable to go a second time.

The Old First Reformed Church—The pastor of this famous old church, the Rev. Lucas Boeve, D. D., is keeping the high pulpit standard of his distinguished predecessors. I have heard him two or three times in the past two or three years and I have always listened to him with deep interest and profit and have always found large audiences waiting upon his ministry. "The Old First Church," as it is affectionately called, has in its pews the families of many of the leading business and professional men of the city which, naturally, require pulpit ability of very high quality. No preacher dishing out platitudes could stay there long. But Dr. Boeve is giving splendid satisfaction and the church is prospering in all departments under his inspiring leadership.

The Fair Street Reformed Church—This church also has an enviable history and numbers many of the leading families of the city among its communicants. In the twelve years I have been coming to Kingston I have heard the pastor, the Rev. Frank B. Seeley, D. D., preach quite a number of times and he always preaches a great sermon. It was a wise thing when a church insisted on broadcasting his sermon by radio for the good of the large silent audience who have been so blessed by his brilliant gospel messages from Sunday to Sunday. Dr. Seeley, as is generally known, has held the longest pastorate of any pastor in the city, something over twenty years.

The Reformed Church of the Comforter—Rev. W. F. Stowe is the popular pastor of this church, which like the Rev. Mr. Moot's Church, has no competition in its vicinity from other Protestant churches, a happy situation. He has been here something like eight or ten years and is steadily building up a strong and successful church in his part of the city. His services are well attended from Sabbath to Sabbath. The night I heard him I had difficulty in finding a seat, the church was so crowded. He preaches a practical, everyday gospel, regularly, which is profoundly influencing the lives of his people. I was very favorably impressed with his sermon the night I heard him.

First Presbyterian Church—The Rev. Putnam Cady, D. D., of this church is a live pastor and an original, practical and inspiring preacher. No one can sit under his preaching without getting a genuine spiritual uplift and a new vision of truth. One can readily understand his great popularity and large congregations after hearing him and coming in touch with his strong and charming personality. Dr. Cady is one of the best known students and travelers of the Holy Land in our country. He has repeatedly conducted large companies of tourists to the Holy Land and led them in the footsteps of Jesus. This unique experience and training gives a spice and flavor to his sermons that few preachers have. It also gives a brilliancy and illumination to many of his Scripture interpretations that any preacher might well covet but few can hope for. Fortunately, indeed, are his people.

The Roundout Presbyterian Church.—Rev. Charles G. Ellis, Ph.D., has spent many years as pastor of this church. He is an able preacher, rightly dividing the word of truth. His clear-cut presentation of the Bible is impressive and helpful. His sermons show the marks of the scholar who keeps abreast of the great movements of his age. Dr. Ellis, I think, is the only pastor of the city who has the high honor to hold the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Theologically he is probably less strongly toward the fundamentalist faction of his denomination, yet his sermons show that he is broad and tolerant and conversant with the tenets of the modernists. He has done steady, splendid work through the years of the religious life of the Roundout section of the city and is held in high regard by the people throughout the city.

Ed Cashin to Referee Bout

The official referee of the main boxing exhibition to be held at the Knights of Columbus Home on Monday, January 24, will be Edward Cashin, who knows the ins and outs of the game to the most minute details.

Negotiations have been completed for the big show and the stage set for the performance of some of the best punch swappers in this vicinity. Vince Hart and Johnny Carpio and Don Hyatt and Charles Fisher will occupy the stand in the final bout. Joe Vondick of Saugerties vs. Butling Sampiere of Poughkeepsie, Louis Carpio, a brother of Johnny's, vs. Kid Mitchell and Billy Owens vs. Mike Sarkis will also perform. A musical program will also be presented. Edward Scherer will be the announcer.

Emancipation of Man by Electrical Energy

President Walter Dill Scott, of Northwestern University, not long ago made the statement that the average American has at his service the equivalent of the energy of 170 slaves. Doctor Scott had been reading statistics of the number of motors and electrical devices in every-day use in the country.

But the thought is worth considering from a different angle from that intended by the university president. There was a time when men thought civilization could not exist without human slavery. But only the rich owned slaves. A ruler who had 170 slaves in personal attendance might have prided himself on his resources.

In those days the average man who earned his daily bread by common labor, was not in much better position than a slave. What conservation would have been spread if some trusted prophet had foretold that mechanical devices would take the place of personal servants. Thousands upon thousands of working people would have cried out, "What shall we do for a living?"

But the era of the motor slave and the electrical slave has come and just the average run of common folks have mechanical energy at their service equivalent to 170 slaves each. And instead of this transformation bringing starvation for slaves and workers, it has abolished slavery and given the average working man many advantages and comforts never dreamed of by nobles and princes in ancient times.

Good old Grecian Archimedes boasted that he could move the earth if he could find a place to stand while doing it. He foresaw great things to be accomplished by mechanical means. But the disciples of Archimedes of modern times have found what their master was looking for. And they didn't have to go off the planet to get a basis of operation.—Exchange.

Rich Find of Fossils

More fossil fishes and sharks are being turned out in a day by a power shovel operating in the region to the west of Cleveland, known to geologists as the Big Creek basin, than the patience of old-time collectors would bring to light in a whole season. Since lots are being laid out in this part of Cleveland shale prized by scientists for its baby relics of a past age, the Cleveland Museum of Natural History has obtained the co-operation of one of the land companies and funds from friends to manipulate a steam shovel. Though Big Creek is only one foot deep, sharks five feet long are caught by the shovel while the bungalows creep closer every day. Many choice fishes, millions of years old, are being saved to science that would otherwise be lost, according to Dr. J. E. Hyde, curator of geology of the Cleveland museum.

Wretched Fake

Secretary Merrill of the shipping board said at a dinner in Washington:

"The foreign rivals of our mercantile marine like to poke fun at us. They pretend that we Americans are greenhorns on the water—we whose clipper ships were once the wonder of the world."

"An English shipper, for instance, told a fake story the other day about an American freighter that was entering the port of Liverpool when the captain was heard to yell furiously to the mate:

"Say, are you bringing in the West end of the sharp end of this ship?"

"A minute later, wanting her to slow down, the mate howled:

"When! When?"

Final Decision

"Do you love the girl?" asked her father.

"Good gracious," cried the practical young man. "Do you think for a minute I'd mortgage my future happiness, my social aspirations, my business hopes and my investment program, my dreams and my sanity, if I didn't have the firm conviction that I'd never be satisfied without her to help me, prod me, spur me, advise me, pity me, bore me, pop me up and egg me on?"

"No," sighed the father, shaking his head sadly. "But you can't leave her, my boy. You talk too much like a man who's had something to do with women before."—L.H.

Humming Birds

In regard to the materials used by humming birds in constructing their nests, I wish to say that to bait or poison are ever used. The nests are built of insects and attached to the stem which is as nearly as possible the exact color of the flowers used, hence the difficulty in locating the nests of humming birds with the human eye. The nest is never broken but carefully concealed.—Pittsburgh Courier.

In each game, Roland Beaudry, goal tender, skates on the ice wearing the flaming headpiece. Before play starts he deposits it atop his cap as an added charm to ward off rival shots. It worked to the limit Wednesday night when the Canadian club was snowed under 7 to 9 in Madison Square Garden.

Entry blanks for the sixth annual indoor track and field championships of the Intercollegiate A. A. A. at the 102nd Engineers Armory, New York, March 5, have been mailed to 32 member colleges throughout the country. The lists for eleven championship events and medley freeman relay close February 13.

Two of the world's "fastest humans"—Charles Faddock and Charles Robins—can settle the speed question once and for all this spring. Robins, a University of Southern California freshman, was sniped at the tape by Faddock's famous flying leap in the race that clocked up a 3.5 second world record for the century dash last year. The Los Angeles A. C. which Faddock represents, and California are due to clash in the A. A. U. relay February 26, the A. A. U. championships April 10, and annual meet on May 14.

ROAMERS DEFEATED BY YOUNG JUDEAS

The Young Judeas retained their winning streak on Thursday night when they defeated the Roamers at the Jewish Community Center, 37 to 12. The Judean quintet played a fast game and had no trouble finding the hoops for 15 field baskets. Their opponents could toss but five counters from the court. Alcon, the scoring ace of the team, collected 28 markers without the aid of his colleagues and Perlman who generally makes his presence known to opposing players by corraling numerous points, was injured in the initial period and was obliged to leave the floor with but four markers to his credit.

LABARRA FAVORIT TO DEFEAT SLAY CLARK

New York, Jan. 21 (AP).—Elky Clark, bristling little Scotch champion of European gyms, will trade punches tonight with Fidel Labarra of California, king pin of the world's 112 pounders in the first intercontinental title match of 1927. The bout is for 12 rounds and will take place at Madison Square Garden.

The speed of Labarra and his clean hitting power, have made the 21-year-old westerner a 2 to 1 favorite in betting circles despite Clark's long record of knockouts among Europe's little men.

Abandon Search for Boy.

Cleveland, Jan. 21 (AP).—Police, firemen, aviators and coast guards today gave up a valiant fight to save an unidentified youth who was seen floating to his death on a cake of ice in Lake Erie Wednesday night. The body of the victim, searchers believe, may never be found. It was ground to pieces in milling ice, they believe.

ELROD MIGHT HAVE BEEN SLAIN FOR MONEY.

Marshalltown, Pa., Jan. 21 (AP).—Contradictory statements as to the financial condition of Charles Elrod forced authorities today as they pondered theories of murder and suicide in connection with the mysterious death of the Lawellens, Neb., youth.

Marshalltown and Waterloo friends of the victim of a love letter hoax said he had collected more than $200 within a few weeks of his death, leading to a belief that he might have been slain for money. Elrod's 19-year-old sweetheart, Veda Bellefleur, who testified at a coroner's inquest that she wrote scathing love letters to arouse the youth's jealousy, maintained, however, that Elrod was worried over a heavy indebtedness. Only $8 was found on his body last Saturday.

Expels 3,700 from Church Roll

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 21 (AP).—What should a pastor do with those members of his congregation, if any, who refuse to sign the church covenant and continue their dancing, card playing and theatre going?

The problem for months vexed Dr. James B. Leavell, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Houston, Texas, and finally he arrived at a solution. He expelled them. Dr. Leavell dropped 3,700 members of his congregation from the church roll, he told the Southern Baptist Sunday school conference. Now, he said, the remaining 1,600 are "doing better work and making more progress than did the 3,700 members."

Origin of Stud Book

Stud books, in connection with the breeding of racehorses, are said to have originated in the mind of Joseph Butler, who, about 150 years ago, had charge of several famous racing stables in England.

CALLES ACCEPTS PEACE.
OFFER OF YAQUI INDIANS

Mexico City, Jan. 21 (AP).—Sonora is to enjoy another period of peace, President Calles having decided to accept the unconditional surrender to the rebellious Yaqui Indians in that state. He has given orders to incorporate in the Mexican army the Yaqui warriors who are unwilling to give up their arms.

General Amaro, minister of war and navy, under instructions of President Calles, telegraphed General Banzo, military commandant of Sonora, that the government will accept unconditional surrender of the tribesmen and afford full protection for their lives.

SAYS FORD PLANTS NEVER HAD LABOR PROBLEMS.

Detroit, Jan. 21 (AP).—The necessity for skilled labor at Ford Motor Company plants has been eliminated with the substitution of modern machinery, in the opinion of Fay Leone Faurte, author of a number of engineering works.

Testifying for the defense in the government's tax suit against former stockholders of the Ford Company, the writer set the valuation of the stock as of 1913 at $13,500 a share. One reason for such a high valuation, the witness said, was that the company had never been troubled with labor problems.

Holland Society Banquet.

The forty-second annual banquet of the Holland Society of New York was held Thursday evening at the Hotel Astor, New York city. Charles L. Schenck, president, presided. The Charge d'Affaires of the Netherlands Legation, Jonkheer Dr. M. van Ash van Wyck, responded to the toast to the Queen of the Netherlands, and the speakers were Major General Robert L. Bullard, U. S. A., retired; the Rev. Roeliff H. Brooks, S. T. D., rector of St. Thomas's Church, and Dr. Francis Harvey Green, headmaster of Pennington Seminary. About 270 members and guests were present.

"TOO MUCH UPLIFT", SAYS
BRITISH RADIO FANS.

London, Jan. 21 (AP).—"Too much uplift" is the complaint many wireless fans are making against British broadcasting since the government took it over. Some of the subjects to which listeners object are: The mind of Beethoven, the growth of industry, the coloration of animals, the sugar beet, and sheep and sheep breeding. The wireless patrons declare the air is laden with dull stuff and clamor for the lighter programs which were offered before the "clammy hand of officialdom" took over broadcasting.

The World We Know

No man's world is any bigger than the man himself. That which his eye can see, his ear can hear, his heart can feel, make up for him the universe. For no man has anything he can't use. What good is money to a Hottentot, or a magnificent picture to an idiot? The whole world for you lies under your own hat, and it is just as large and just as varied as your own mind will let it become.—Author Unknown.

Financial
and Commercial

New York, Jan. 21 (AP).—The stock market was heading downward this morning and appeared to be on the verge of a sharp break when large buying orders poured into several groups of stocks and started a brisk rally. Early losses of 1 to 5 points were reduced or wiped out, and by early afternoon dozens of issues were selling 1 to 5 points above last night's final quotations.

The sudden revival of activity and strength in the "merger rally" was based on unconfirmed reports that brokers previously identified with the Van Sweringen were heavy buyers of the Wheeling and Lake Erie issues, the inference being that the road probably would be included in the revised "Nickel Plate" consolidation. Wheeling and Lake Erie common extended its gain to five points by touching 40 1/2, the highest price since it was listed ten years ago. Western Maryland issues also touched their highest prices in years.
Weakness of the cement issues
was believed to reflect recent suggestions of a reduction in building activity. Woolworth rallied sharply on publication of a favorable 1926 earnings report. Studebaker, with an early gain of 2 1/2 points, showed the greatest vitality in months.
Equipment shares continued to respond to reports of large railroad orders. Special buying also developed in several of the independent steels, particularly Sloss-Sheffield, Ludlum and Colorado Fuel. The advance in the oils was resumed, but it appeared to encounter strong resistance.

Elroy & Co., members N. Y. Stock

Capture Bandit
In an Old Cabin

Tulsa, Okla., Jan. 21 (AP).—John
Mayo, daring bandit who escaped from jail here last Sunday, was captured today.
Mayo held up the jailer and a companion when he broke out, and terrorized the guests in a local hotel.
He was armed with several revolvers and a machine gun, taken from the jail.
Mayo was key witness in the Hale-Ramsey Oage Indian murder trial
last year.
The capture was effected without a shot being fired in an old cabin in the Sago hills which Sheriff Sanford and six deputies surrounded.
Mayo had a revolver in one hand
and an automatic pistol in the other.
Sheriff Sanford covered him, and Mayo dropped his guns.
"All right, Bob, you've got me,"
he said. "No trouble."

Aunt, Mrs. John Randazzo of Amsterdam, N. Y., to Bartolo Liccardo, Jr., of Crown street, this city. The marriage will take place on Easter Sunday at Amsterdam.

Mrs. Susan Barmann, widow of Peter Barmann, Sr., is very ill at her home on Barmann avenue, this city.

65 Murray street to the Benedictine Hospital in the ambulance on Thursday.

Burton Teetzel of 71 Chambers street is recovering nicely from the injury he received while coasting
several weeks ago.

Mrs. Everett Scott of No. 37

derwent an operation for appendicitis, is slowly improving at the Kingston City Hospital.

PORT EVEN.

Port Even, Jan. 21.—A card party,
under the auspices of the Parent-
Teacher Association, will be held Tuesday evening, January 26, at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J.
Frank Dorr on Stout avenue. Each member of the P-T-A. is requested
to be present and bring a lady friend.
Please notify Mrs. Dorr by Tuesday morning if you intend to play. Five hundred and pinochle will be played.
It is hoped there will be a large attendance at Mrs. Dorr's so kindly opened her home for this worthy occasion. Prizes and refreshments.

Hope Temple, No. 80, Pythian
Sisters, will meet in its temple
rooms Monday evening, January 24,
at 8 o'clock. The M. E. C. Mrs.
Lillian Mable would be glad to see a large attendance. At the close of the sermon refreshments will be served. The male members of the order will receive a cordial welcome.
A delicious cafeteria supper will be served in the Methodist Church
house, Thursday, January 27, at 5:30 o'clock, under the auspices of the official board.

The many friends of Miss Etta Ellsworth will be pleased to know
she is improving from her recent illness.
At the fair and bazaar held in Odd Fellows' Hall, Thursday night, there was a large crowd of people; the hall was packed to the doors. The entertainment given under the auspices of the Ever Ready Club of Port Even entitled, "Not a Man in the House," was fine. The added attractions consisting of vocal solos
by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoock of Kingston and Mrs. Raymond Port of Port Even, were exceptionally good.
Much enjoyment was produced by the musical numbers and solos of Michael Abanelli and Seymour
Amarelo of Kingston. This evening is the last night of the fair and bazaar.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, Jan. 21.—The roads
in this vicinity were barricaded by snow until Tuesday when the large caterpillar plow removed the large quantities. Men were kept ahead of the plow to shovel the drifts from the sides of the roads. In many places but a single track was made.
The pupils of the school, who recently tried the Regents' examinations, are interested to know the grades they received and hope that promotion will come to them.

Compensation Hearing Here.
Before John J. Burns of the New York state industrial board will hear evidence for compensation at the court house in this city on February 4, 11, 14, 21 and 28, starting at 9 a. m.

Ladies' Next to Dance.

Ours, will hold a dance in Pythian Hall on February 1. Card table to be provided for the event.

ing for a soft suit. All say not to

Sentence Three
Students to Death

Moscow, Jan. 21 (AP).—Three Communist students, two of whom are brothers, were sentenced to death today for smashing the cashier of a Moscow trade school and murdering
his wife.
The court imposed the extreme penalty "as an example to other youths." The case stirred public interest deeply because the sixteen year-old fiancée of the youngest defendant committed suicide in despair
over his erring ways.

U. S. Destroyer Off For Foochow.
Washington, Jan. 21 (AP).—The American destroyer Parrott has gone from Shanghai to Foochow, where foreigners have been threatened and churches looted. Word of the arrival of the Parrott has not reached
the navy department.

Illusion Often Lost
by Personal Contact

The best authors should be read, not known. Even if a poet has written an epic, one hour's association with him
may destroy the most idolatrous reader's illusion of him.

Your favorite humorist may turn out to be an ordinary person, dull in the use of the spoken word. Or what you believe to be the greatest living novelist may prove to be a little peevish man whose false teeth do not fit
made intolerant by nervous indigestion
or egotism.

In any case, says Corra Harris in the Saturday Evening Post, some writer whom you have admired for his high notes in the purpling shadows of a great poem is almost sure to give vent to some meanly critical views of men quite contrary to the noble sentiments he bugled in that martial epic,
because he was in a divine mood
when he wrote it, and the thing merely interprets his mood, not his normal mind, which may be a mean little mind.

Early Altars Ablaze
With Human Sacrifices

Throughout the ages men have made human sacrifices whenever they were under adversity and felt that the gods were averse. H. G. Wells paints a graphic picture of a scene that may have occurred in the dawn of a prehistoric day about the vast stone altars on the Wiltshire uplands at Stonehenge, in England—the Druid priests
with horribly painted masks, the air
of festivity among the people who have come wearing their very best skin garments for the occasion and the helpless victims gazing toward the distant smoking altars upon which they are to die.

As time went on, the practice of human sacrifice became more elaborate. The reasons and occasions for human sacrifice were codified. The most civilized races decided that an entire community might be cleansed
of an epidemic or saved from other
calamity by this barbarous means.

Seek Synthetic Rubber.

The Amazon district of Brazil is the great rubber-producing country of the world, for more than half of the total supply comes from there. The federated Malay states, the Congo region, Portuguese West Africa, the east coast of tropical Africa, Borneo,
Penang, Borneo and Mexico, the West Indies and Central America are the other rubber-producing districts.
About one-tenth of the total yield
comes from the Congo.

The rapidly increasing cost of the article has aroused experimenters,
who have produced substances that
have some of the qualities of rubber.
It is not improbable that they may ultimately succeed, as the chemists did
in producing artificial indigo, in making real rubber by synthesis.

Columbus Promised Much

In a letter to Columbus on the discovery of America, facsimile edition, 1892, of the four Latin editions belonging to the Lenox library, is the following passage: "Finally, that I may compress in a few words the brief
account of our departure and quick return, and the gain, I promise this:
that if I am supported by my most invaluable sovereigns with a little of their help, as much gold can be supplied as they will need, indeed, as much of spices, of cotton, of chewing gum (which is only found in China),
also as much of silverwood, and as many slaves for the navy of their majesties will wish to demand." The date of this letter is March 14, 1492—
more than 400 years ago.

Preocious Children

Dante wrote a sonnet to his Beatrice at nine years; Tasso wrote poetry at ten, and Pascal was a pre-founded thinker at the age of thirteen.
Jonathan Edwards was famous at twelve. Goethe wrote a story in seven languages when he was ten; Voltaire was busy as a writer at thirteen,
and Calderon was writing poetry at the same age.

Victor Hugo composed "Hernani"
at fifteen, and by the time he was twenty had published four of his volumes. Pope wrote his ode to "Solimba" at twelve, and his "Pastorals"
four years later. Howe translated "Amoretti" at thirteen, and Byron
was already writing verses at twelve,
and by the time he was sixteen years
of age he had published his "Hours of Idleness."

Long-Lived Families.
The Baskin family and the Bushman
have the records of the greatest longevity among white peoples. Baskins had 3,999 generations in a population of a little over 4,000,000, compared with 104 in France and 94 in Great Britain.

The DAIRY*USE SKIM MILK
FOR DAIRY CALF

"Many farmers are not successful in raising calves on skim milk," says R.
W. Clark in Colorado Extension Bulletin No. 127. "Whole milk may produce the best calf, but not necessarily the best cow. As good an animal can be produced on skim milk as can be produced on whole milk, but greater care and attention is required in producing the former.

"The calf should nurse its mother
for the first few days, after which it should be removed and fed by hand.
Whole milk, warm and fresh from the mother, should be given for ten days or two weeks at least. Ten to twelve pounds per day in two or three feeds
should be given at first, and the length of time that it should be continued
depends upon the strength of the calf.
Ordinarily ten days to two weeks will be required to make the change from whole milk to skim milk. Gradually substitute skim milk for whole milk,
increasing the former until the whole milk is entirely replaced. This may be a week or it may be a month. Skim milk should be warm and sweet when fed, as cold sour skim milk is the greatest cause of scour. It may be fed for six or seven months, depending mainly upon the supply. It should be given until five months of age at least."

Missouri College Cows
Make New Milk Records

Two new Missouri milk records in milk and butterfat production have been reported by the dairy specialists
at the Missouri College of Agriculture here.

Raleigh's Velvet Queen, a mature cow in the herd of Longview Farm,
Lees Summit, in ten months produced
382.78 pounds of butterfat and 12,
731 pounds of milk. This is the highest mature 305-day Jersey record ever made in Missouri, the specialists said. The new champion has been awarded a gold medal by the American Jersey Cattle club, New York.

In a previous test made when she was a two-year-old, Queen produced 626.25 pounds of fat and 11,925 pounds
of milk in 365 days.
Another Jersey cow, Campus Love
C., established a new senior four-year-old record for Missouri by producing 710.67 pounds of butterfat and 12,286 pounds of milk in 365 days.
This cow also was tested as a junior
two-year-old, when she produced
400.84 pounds of butterfat and 7,456
pounds of milk in 365 days.

Silage Must Be Given
Serious Consideration

The dairyman who is milking ten or more cows in the corn belt can well afford to consider the advisability of using silage for his cows. Dairy cows need succulence in their ration to produce to the best advantage. Corn makes a large amount of feed per acre
when it is converted into silage and provides the succulence that dairy cows need when pasture is not available.

Some of the larger dairymen find a profitable use for two silos. A large silo is used for winter and a smaller silo is used for summer. In this scheme the men are able to provide a succulent feed for their cows at any season of the year. If it happens to be a very moist year and the pastures
remain good, the silage in the small silo is carried over or fed to some other type of stock. However, there are not many years when silage will not come in handy to supplement pasture crops.

Dairy Facts

Alfalfa hay and corn silage together
supply ideal roughage for dairy cows.

Individual stalls and pens are advisable so that each calf will get its share.

When the calves are about two weeks old, they should be taught to eat grain and hay.

Feed the cows according to their production; about one pound of grain
to three or four pounds of milk.

Weigh and test the milk and estimate the cost of the feed to determine which cows are helping pay the bills.

For dairy cows on pasture a mixture of equal parts of ground oats and corn
is ordinarily the most practical ration.
In the case of extremely heavy milkers during the late summer it may pay
to add a little oil meal.

Cool milk or cream to not less than 50 degrees F. within a few minutes after it is drawn or skimmed. Maintain this temperature.

Went out the unprofitable cows. It is wiser and more profitable to sell
three good cows than six or eight poor ones.

The calf should also have five access to salt. Salt is just as much needed for the calf as it is for the cow, even though the quantity is very small.

In That Case, Always
An old adage who collects coppers
says you can live with one for five years and find something from it in every day. Especially if you've got a young family who are curious as mules, says the Office Boy.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Reception last night was vastly better than on Wednesday night. Between 7 and 8 o'clock there was persistent fat trying, but volume was strong. There were no dead points
Atlanta, Montreal, Davenport and Portland came equally well when tuned in. Even KDKA was in excellent tone and volume, while WJZ, WEAF and WGY were perfect.
Tuning was sharp and except in hopelessly congested areas there was no difficulty in avoiding interference between stations. Such stations as WLWL and WCFL could be cleared up easily.
There was wonderful reception in the afternoon, the philharmonic
concert from Rochester, over WGY, being especially strong.
Radio programs in The Freeman
cover features that have come and gone before the paper is in the hands
of its readers, many of whom would like the program in time that they may tune in on afternoon features.
To meet this condition, beginning today, programs will in future be published one day ahead of the date
they occur. Fans should clip them out or save the paper until next day.

AMERICAN LEGION DENIES FOR NATIONAL COMMANDER

The New York Department of The American Legion will entertain National Commander Howard P. Savage
at a dinner on Lincoln's Birthday,
February 12, at the New York Athletic Club. It is expected in the neighborhood of six or seven hundred Legionnaires will be present to pay their respects to the national head
of their organization.

"The rail-splitter of the Department of Illinois" is the way Howard Paul Savage, the new national commander of The American Legion, is spoken of in his home state. The title comes from the immense amount of work he has accomplished in the Legion and from a resemblance in many points to that other towering rail-splitter Illinois sent out to the nation.

Many guests of distinction will have accepted invitations to be present, among them: Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Hon. F. Truett Davison,
Major-General James H. McRae, Senator-elect Robert F. Wagner and many other nationally known men.
The welfare of the war disabled is a matter of intense concern to Commander Savage and he never misses an opportunity to visit veterans' hospitals and to assist in every possible way in prosecuting their claims and looking after their well-fare.

Commander Savage is a graduate of Lewis Institute and also the University of Wisconsin, where he made a record not only in the regular course but also in athletics. At one time he was a member of the Chicago Cubs.

MARLBOROUGH CHURCH ADOPTS NEW WORK PLAN.

Marlborough, Jan. 21.—The congregation of the Marlborough Presbyterian Church held a meeting on Wednesday night and adopted the plan made out by the Rev. M. C.
Cavell to carry on church work for the year. The plan will make it very easy to handle community projects
in which the church is concerned,
form a closer contact with the members of the parish and enable the pastor and officials of the church to obtain necessary information in an easy manner.
The plan provides for a council of nine parishoners and the pastor will be the commander-in-chief. Those who will serve as officials with committees under their charge are: Mrs.
Agnes Carhart, Mrs. A. H. Contant,
Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baker, Mrs. N.
R. Knapp, Charles Bloomer, Harrison Dawes, Wilbur Haviland, Townsend Velle and Barrett Wygant.
Mrs. William Blank and Mrs. W.
Velle will take charge of the community survey to be held in which the council will cooperate.

Golden Rule Inn

What may the engaged man
give to his fiancée?
THE WHAT, WHEN AND HOW
OF REMEMBRANCES . . . DON'T GUESS—ASK YOUR JEWELER
all, without breaching the canons of approved social practice
and good form.
But there are other equally perplexing questions in the engagement of gift-giving. What, for example, should a bridegroom
give to his best man and ushers
before the wedding ceremony?
And the bride to
her bridesmaids?
What are the
proper anniversary
and seasonal gifts
to friends and relatives?
When you have a delicate gift problem to solve—don't
guess—go to an expert for authoritative counsel. See your jeweler. He is past-master in the science of gift selection. His consultations
are free.
